There is a diverse lineup of educational opportunities, great speakers, a trade show full of the latest technology and much more.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION SESSIONS provide a valuable opportunity to become knowledgeable about the latest from industry leaders. A wide variety of expertise is provided by educators and speakers who have years of experience in establishing onsite wastewater systems. These CONTINUING EDUCATION sessions present you with information on topics that is helpful in advancing your professional development.

NETWORK with onsite industry colleagues who share your commitment to protecting and enhancing water quality. Important contacts are achieved through the interaction with those colleagues and the manufacturers and representatives in the onsite industry.

The TRADE SHOW provides for industry practitioners and policy officials an exposition of onsite wastewater products and the opportunity to discuss the latest in technology with the suppliers.
